Quality Translations, Zero Error Rate

In a world in which we are overwhelmed by information, getting your message to the right audiences – quickly and accurately – is more important than ever.

Albornoz & Associates is a full service English-Spanish translation company based in Austin, Texas. Our translators, all native Spanish speakers, understand the importance of message. Whether conveying clear facts or subtle nuances, our translations are as close to the original as possible.

From descriptive promotional brochures to highly technical documents to straightforward informational materials, we skillfully employ the appropriate style for each intended audience. In addition to translating a wide range of content, we also handle turnkey production of promotional publications, from writing to layout to printing.

Fast and Efficient Document Exchange

Our efficient, automated system for receiving and returning documents saves our clients significant time and costs. We establish a highly secure, password-protected Virtual Private Network (VPN) to access a client's server. The process conforms to all HIPAA standards and minimizes the time spent processing and distributing documents. As a result, we are able to return translations within strict deadlines for less than half the standard per word rate charged by other translation services.
